e're dreaming of long, lost afternoons at some of the world's very best beach bars. Read about the spots around the globe that have caught our eye – from the Greek islands to Tulum.

LA SUSANA, URUGUAY

La Susana, the chic restaurant and bar attached to Bahia Vik, Uruguay's latest beach retreat, sits in sand dunes just a 10-minute stroll along the seafront from the hippy honeypot of José Ignacio, and one of the few places in South America where it's possible to watch the sun sink into the Atlantic, toes in the sand. Settle on the terrace of one of the stylish thatched cabanas, prop yourself up at the bar, or bag a chair on the beach overlooking the rolling surf. It's secluded enough for supermodels and off-duty tech moguls to feast in peace on sushi, silverside fish and a rhapsody of locally sourced meats charred on the open-grill - and order another sharing jug of Christiana Clericot, Uruguay's tropical Pimm's. Everyone completely forgets about having a siesta as the bossa-infused Balearic beats flow.
